The "Star Wars" Alternative — DSE Satellite TV!

Messages From Outer Space!

Sounds like sci-fi doesn't it? With the DSE satellite system anyone can receive pictures from the heavens.

There's a large range of programs available from Intelsat IVA, in orbit over the Pacific Ocean. In fact, Australian ABC, Channel 7 and Channel 9 news feeds from America, etc via Intelsat.

While some stations will be switching to Aussat when it's launched, the Dick Smith Electronics Satlink System will be suitable for future Intelsat satellites.

In addition many programs are beamed through the Indonesian 'Palapa' system, the Russian 'Gorizont' system and others. It is anticipated that many more will be available in the future.

The dish is one of the most important parts of the system so we've chosen what we believe to be the best compromise between room and performance. It's 3.5 metres in diameter, made from tough, lightweight fibreglass petals and has a gain approaching 40dB.

It's designed for ground mounting and special instructions have been written by our Research and Development Department so it can even be installed and aimed by the beginner.

Be the first on the block to get a message from space!
Cat D-8150

$1800
DISH:

Shh! It's Our Low Noise Amp.

We'll just say this softly. We don't want to disturb anyone. This is the heart of the system. If the amp isn't low noise you won't get a good picture. We've chosen the superb MSE LA-3800. Here's real quality, produced in the USA to exacting standards. There's a 40dB gain and the LNA is specifically made to cover the 4GHz 'C' band used by Intelsat IVA, V etc. 55° K noise temp Cat D-8000

WOW

ESS - 340 Satellite Receiver

Wow! We've taken a commercial design and modified it to suit our conditions. Huh! And they said it couldn't be done. We've even crystal locked the audio and modified the bandwidth circuitry to give improved signal to noise. Output is standard composite video of the type being received from the satellite. So it's the perfect partner for your DSE satellite dish!

Chapparral Feed Horn

The feed horn is pretty important to your system. Without it — you won't get a picture. That's pretty important! It's placed at the focal point of the receiving dish and acts as a 'collector' of signal ready for processing by the low noise amp. We've chosen the famous Chapparral Super Feed, regarded in the United States as the industry standard. Polarisation correction is fitted to allow reception of Intelsat signals.

Watch for a new store opening in your area!

Dear Customers,

Quite often, the products we advertise are so popular they run out within a few days, unforeseen circumstances might hold up shipments so that advertised lines are not in the stores by the time the advert appears. And very occasionally, an error might slip through our checks and appear in the advert (after all, we're human too!) Please don't blame the store manager or staff: they cannot solve a dock strike on the other side of the world, nor fix an error that's appeared in print. If you're about to drive across town to pick up an advertised line, why not play it safe and give them a call first... just in case! Thanks. Dick Smith Electronics
